

sir george williams university montreal 25

Summer Institute in SOCIOLOGY
and
HISTORY
July 10-Aug. 22
1967

SCOTT A. GREER

Northwestern University
Political Sociology

BLAKE MCKELVEY

City Historian, Rochester, N.Y.
American Urban History

G. DUNCAN MITCHELL

University of Exeter, England
Classical Sociological Theory

STEFAN NOWAKOWSKI

University of Warsaw, Poland
Problems of Urbanization

FERNAND OUELLET

Carleton University
History of Quebec, 1759-1965

NORMAN POLLACK

Wayne State University
The Rise of Industrial Society in America, 1876-1896

CHARLES TILLY

University of Toronto
Sociology and History:
Collective Political Actions

FRED W. VOGET

Southern Illinois University
Introduction to Anthropology

SAMUEL E. WALLACE

Brandeis University
Sociology of Deviance

FOR DETAILS
WRITE TO THE SECRETARY

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY

MONTREAL

With its 2,000,000 people, Montreal is the second largest French city in the world. Its culture is a distinctive blend of French, British, and American customs and attitudes. Old historic buildings are mingled with the modern architecture of a large metropolis in a great port on the St. Lawrence River. The Laurentian Mountains and the Green Mountains of Vermont are only an hour's drive away.

HOUSING

The University does not operate student residences. It is, however, prepared to assist students in finding suitable lodgings, upon request. These should be addressed to the Office of the Dean of Students.

RECREATION

The city of Montreal offers a wide variety of cultural and recreational opportunities. The Office of Student Affairs will be glad to furnish specific information about these and to make any arrangements that may be required. Registered students are also entitled to use the swimming and gymnasium facilities. Additional distractions will be provided by Expo 67 this year.

ADMISSION

Admission and registration are by mail and on a first-come first-served basis. Course enrollments will be limited.

These are third and fourth year undergraduate courses. Students will ordinarily take one or one-and-a-half courses. Only in exceptional circumstances will a student be permitted to register for credit in two full courses.

A full course is the equivalent of six semester hours, lectures being two hours per day from Monday through Friday for six weeks. A half course is the equivalent of three semester hours, lectures being two hour per day from Monday through Friday for three weeks.

Students interested in exploring the relationship between historical and sociological approaches to the study of societies are particularly welcome. Prerequisites are listed with each course description. Students from other institutions are welcome and are expected to have comparable prerequisites. A transcript or letter from the appropriate institution should be submitted as documentation of prerequisites.

PREREQUISITES

Fees are one hundred dollars for a full course and fifty dollars for a half course.

FEES

A deposit of $25.00 per full course ($12.50 per half course) must accompany an application for admission and registration. This money will be credited to fees if an application is accepted. It will be refunded only if an application is refused. The balance of the fee must be paid within 12 calendar days of the beginning of classes.

No refund of fees can be made after July 15.

Sir George students are reminded that they may not earn more than two course credits in one summer, regardless of the session in which the courses are taken.

NOTE

All application forms, inquiries, and correspondence concerning these courses should be addressed to:

The Secretary
Department of Sociology
Sir George Williams University
Montreal 25, P.Q., Canada.

ADDRESS

FORMER VISITING PROFESSORS

- 1964      Lewis A. Coser
            Brandeis University
            Rose Laub Coser
            Harvard Medical School
            Joseph H. Fichter, S.J.
            Loyola University of the South
            Robin M. Williams, Jr.
            Cornell University
- 1965      Helen MacGill Hughes
            Brandeis University
            Scott A. Greer
            Northwestern University
            Alfred R. Lindesmith
            Indiana University
            Jan Szczepanski
            University of Lodz, Poland
            Bernard E. Segal
            Dartmouth Medical School
            Kurt H. Wolff
            Brandeis University
- 1966      Forrest E. LaViolette
            Tulane University
            Raymond W. Mack
            Northwestern University
            Hans O. Mauksch
            Illinois Institute of Technology
            John M. Mogey
            Boston University
            Kaare Svalastoga
            University of Copenhagen, Denmark
            James Bertin Webster
            University of Ibadan, Nigeria
            Peter M. Worsley
            University of Manchester, England

Scott A. Greer, Ph.D., a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles, is Professor of Sociology and Political Science and Director of the Center for Metropolitan Studies at Northwestern University. His many publications include: Governing the Metropolis, The Emerging City: Myth and Reality, Last Man In: Racial Access to Union Power, Social Organization, Metropolitica: A Study of Political Culture, and Urban Renewal and American Cities.

Political Sociology

Critical evaluation of the literature on political and governmental structure. Examination of theoretical developments and empirical findings relevant to an understanding of political behaviour. Analysis of political organization and decision-making as constrained and determined by the social environment.

Sociology 427.0

Prerequisite: Sociology 211

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 10:00–12:00

Visiting Professor:
Scott A. Greer
Northwestern University

Blake McKelvey, Ph.D., a graduate of Syracuse and Harvard Universities, is City Historian of Rochester, New York, and lectures at the University of Rochester. He has also taught at the University of Chicago and his publications include: American Prisons, Rochester (4 vols.), and Urbanization in America.

American Urban History

A study of the growth, distribution, and dynamic character of cities in America. The relationship of urbanization to the broader course of American History. The role of immigration and integration.

History 495.1

Prerequisite: History 213 or 251
or Sociology 211

Half Course: Mon. to Fri. 11:00–1:00 (July 10-31.)

Visiting Professor:
Blake McKelvey
City Historian, Rochester, N.Y.

G. Duncan Mitchell is head of the Department of Sociology and Dean of the Faculty of Social Studies at the University of Exeter in Devon, England. He is a graduate of the London School of Economics and Political Science, and he has taught at the University of Birmingham and Oxford University. Among his publications are: Neighbourhood and Community, and Sociology: The Study of Social Systems.

Classical Sociological Theory

Introduction to major theorists whose main work will be read and discussed. Origins of rationalism and rise of scientific thought. Classical sociologists, especially Durkheim, Weber, Pareto. The professionalization of the subject and delineation of an academic discipline.

Sociology 423.0

Prerequisite: Two full credits in Sociology

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 10:00–12:00

Visiting Professor:
G. Duncan Mitchell
University of Exeter, England

Stefan Nowakowski, Ph.D., is a graduate of the University of Warsaw and has been a Ford Fellow and a Fellow at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences at Stanford University. He is the Head of the Urban Sociology Center of the Institute of Philosophy and Sociology in the Polish Academy of Sciences. His many publications have not been translated yet and deal mainly with class structure, urbanization, and social change.

Problems of Urbanization

Urbanization in historical perspective; the rural-urban continuum; migration, the selection and transformation of migrants, their integration and change in the urban environment; different types of urbanization; migrants as a link between city and village and the urbanization of the village.

Sociology 496.0

Prerequisite: Sociology 211 or History 213

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 1:30–3:30

Visiting Professor:
Stefan Nowakowski
University of Warsaw, Poland

Fernand Ouellet, Docteur ès Lettres in History, is a graduate of the Université Laval. He also holds diplomas from the National Archives in Paris and from American University. He has taught at the Université Laval and is now professor of History at Carleton University. He is the author and editor of many publications, the most recent of which is Histoire économique et sociale du Québec, 1760-1850.

History of Quebec, 1795-1965

The evolution of French-Canadian society; survey of research on the society of New France; social classes and social structures (1760-1900); current research on the development of industrial society in Quebec.

History 426.0

Prerequisite: One course in Canadian history and reading knowledge of French (lectures in English)

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 1:30–3:30

Visiting Professor:
Fernand Ouellet
Carleton University

The Rise of Industrial Society in America, 1876-1896

The nature of industrial society and the problems of alienation with special emphasis on the late nineteenth century. The Populist movement as a response to the industrial transformation. Ideologies of laissez-faire, Social Darwinism, and the success myth.

History 494.0

Prerequisite: History 213 or 251 or Sociology 211

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 9:00–11:00

Visiting Professor:
Norman Pollack
Wayne State University

Norman Pollack, Ph.D., a graduate of Harvard University, is associate professor of History at Wayne State University. He has been a Woodrow Wilson Fellow and has taught at Harvard and Yale Universities. His publications include: The Populist Response to Industrial America and The Populist Mind.

Sociology and History: Collective Political Actions

The phenomena under analysis will be collective protests and conflicts ranging from riots to revolutions. Looking especially at Western Europe, we shall consider how urbanization and industrialization shape these collective actions.

History 493.0

Prerequisite: Sociology 211 and History 213

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 1:30–3:30

Visiting Professor:
Charles Tilly
University of Toronto

Introduction to Anthropology

The evolution of man and his culture from prehistoric times; the differentiation of races; family and kinship structures in simple and complex societies; religious beliefs and practices in ancient and modern primitives in selected parts of the world; the branches of anthropological study and their relationship to each other and to the social sciences.

Anthropology 211.0

Prerequisite: Third year standing

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 1:30–3:30

Visiting Professor:
Fred W. Voget
Southern Illinois University

Sociology of Deviance

Why, whence, and whither the study of deviant behaviour. Societal pressures which define, limit, label, and judge acts called deviant. The social world of the deviant, contrasting Canadian and American experience with the homeless man, and the Latin American and Anglo-Saxon perspectives on the participants in violence. Other forms of deviance with emphasis on its social context, and the implications of given theoretical perspectives.

Sociology 433.0

Prerequisite: Sociology 211

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 10:00–12:00

Visiting Professor:
Samuel E. Wallace
Brandeis University

Charles Tilly, Ph.D., a graduate of Harvard University, is Professor of Sociology at the University of Toronto. He has taught and done research at the University of Delaware, the Center of International Studies at Princeton University, Harvard University, and has been a member of the Joint Center for Urban Studies of M.I.T. and Harvard. His publications include: The Vendée, Migration to an American City, Measuring Political Upheaval.

Fred W. Voget, Ph.D., a graduate of Yale University, is Professor of Anthropology at Southern Illinois University in Edwardsville. He has taught at the University of Nebraska, McGill University, Universities of Arkansas, Toronto, Portland State, and Northwestern. He has done field work among several North American Indian tribes, including the Crow, Mohawks, Iroquois and several tribes of the Northern plains, and he is the author of many articles and research reports.

Samuel E. Wallace, Ph.D., a graduate of the University of Minnesota, is assistant professor of Sociology at Brandeis University. He has done teaching and research at the University of Puerto Rico, the Bureau of Applied Social Research at Columbia, Queens College, and City College of New York. He has published widely in English and in Spanish, including: The Urban Ambience, Skid Row as a Way of Life, and Urbanismo.